

Craster - most visitors are drawn along the coast northwards to Dunstanburgh, completely ignoring the superb coastline that lies to the south. This 7½ mile BLACK walk (with only 453ft of ascent) commences from the Tourist Information car park, NE66 3TW and follows the low cliffs past several inviting bays before turning inland to return across fields. The final leg passes through a small nature reserve in the former quarries behind the village.
